GTA Online Weapons - The Crack Pit.Development of a lateral flow immunoassay for differentiation of plasmid immunization from plasmid tolerance. Plasmid immunization (PI) is a systemic response to an in vivo genetic immunization using exogenous genetic material which is usually not recognized by the immune system. Plasmid tolerance (PT) is a common phenomena and can affect frequency and magnitude of PI and its persistence upon multiple administrations. Rapid and accurate detection of PI and PT is important for efficient genetic immunization protocols. In this study, we developed and evaluated a novel lateral flow test for detection of PI and PT.
